TASHKENT CITY, UZBEKISTAN

ABOUT UNIVERSITY

Tashkent Medical Academy (TMA), located in Tashkent, Uzbekistan, is a prestigious medical institution with a rich history. Established in 1920 as the Faculty of Medicine at Turkestan State University, it was renamed Tashkent Medical Institute in 1931. The academy split into two separate medical universities in 1990, and in 2005, TMA was formed by merging these universities.

TMA offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs across six faculties and 52 departments. The academy's main campuses are in Tashkent. TMA is dedicated to training highly qualified medical personnel, improving healthcare quality, and actively participating in the healthcare system's advancement.

The Tashkent City Branch, located at Farabi Street 2 in the Almazar district of Tashkent, is one of the main campuses. It provides modern facilities, including state-of-the-art classrooms and laboratories, to support high-quality education and research. The branch plays a crucial role in producing skilled medical professionals who contribute significantly to healthcare in the region.
